3 Figures

Dimensions in millimeters.

Figure 2. Drawing conventions. Hatching marks a cut surface and gray marks a second material. Dimensions use extension lines and filled arrowheads, and a dashed callout leads to a magnified detail.

Notional. To be measured in the first trial.

Figure 3. A chart with direct labels instead of a legend: a curve in the accent color because it is the subject, an uncertainty band in gray, open-circle points, and a dotted reference line. The note says the data are illustrative and what would make them real.
